TBRPC Efforts

- On February 22 in our role as “Convener of the Region” we convened First responders from throughout the Region for a quarterly meeting to discuss chemical hazards. Staff member John Myer coordinates this activity.
- On February 23rd, I along with Planners John Myer and Brady Smith attended the grand opening of the Hillsborough County Emergency Operations Center. This 36 million dollar building has state of the art technology and is built to withstand a category 5 hurricane or sustained winds of 200 mph. We were provided a tour of the facility by the Fire Chief including the adjacent training facility which provide firefighters with numerous hazard training exercises.
- On March 9th and 10th I participated in both Florida Regional Council's Executive Director's meetings via teleconference. These meetings provide an opportunity for RPC Director's to discuss items of mutual concern and provide the opportunity to meet with FRCA's Executive Director and Lobbyist Ron Book.
- The Tampa Bay Leadership Group will be holding a kickoff meeting on Friday May 12th for their Best Practices Study of coordinating regional transportation efforts of which the TBRPC has been invited to participate. This meeting will be held at St. Pete College in Clearwater and we will send out information to Council members as the agenda is developed. Council member Nunez represents the Council on this Committee.
- On February 23rd we received a contract from FDOT that authorizes the TBRPC to commence work on an economic impact analysis for the TBX transportation project. The Council previously authorized me to sign this contract. This is an exciting opportunity for the Council to participate in one of the most significant and highly visible surface transportation projects in the Tampa Bay region.
- On March 6th my wife and I, at the invitation of Vice Mayor Dodson, had the opportunity to attend the Annual Plant City Strawberry Festival Luncheon. This is our second time attending this event that consistently draws over 500,000 people each year.
- In early March I had the opportunity to meet with United States Senator Bill Nelson. I thanked Senator Nelson for the video he provided us with as a welcome to our Transportation Summit. The Senator was appreciative for the Summit invite from the TBRPC and asked that we keep him informed of our transportation efforts and to contact him if he can be of assistance.
- On March 3, 2017, the Tampa Bay Regional Planning Council held its first Peril of Flood workshop at TBRPC's conference facility in Pinellas Park. Workshop participants heard a presentation from TBRPC Principal Planner Brady Smith about the 2015 Peril of Flood Act requirements for local governments. Shawn College of the Hillsborough County City-County Planning Commission presented an overview of the City of Tampa's sea level rise vulnerability assessment, which was developed to support Tampa's recently proposed Peril of Flood comprehensive plan amendment. Participants also engaged in a facilitated discussion to share knowledge about how flood mitigation and adaptation strategies may be incorporated into comprehensive planning goals, objectives, and policies. The event was attended by nearly 60 people, including local government planners, building officials, and floodplain managers, along with other public and private-sector stakeholders and interested citizens. This event was the first of four TBRPC Peril of Flood workshops being held in March/April 2017.
- Since Spring training for major league baseball is now in full swing, my wife and I have had the opportunity recently to attend baseball games at the Tampa Bay Rays Spring Training Ballpark in Charlotte County, a Philadelphia Phillies game at Spectrum Field in Clearwater, a Pittsburgh Pirates Game at Leecom Park in Bradenton, and of course Boston Red Sox games at Jet Blue Park in Fort Myers. We are looking forward to attending additional Spring Training games including the New York Yankees at Steinbrenner Field in Tampa, and Toronto Blue Jays at Florida Auto Exchange Stadium in Dunedin. I must admit that the common denominator to many of our games is the Boston Red Sox, but more importantly it has been really cool to be a part of the Spring Training economic engine in the State of Florida and specifically here in the Tampa Bay region. Opening Day for the Rays at the Trop is scheduled for Sunday April 2nd at 1:00pm.
