5. Proposed language from a Tampa citizen stakeholder group to clarify and strengthen Florida Statutes regarding the elimination of surface water discharges effluent, reclaimed, or reuse water – Sid Flannery

A citizen stakeholders group has been following how the City of Tampa might meet the requirements of Senate Bill 64 passed by the Florida Legislature in 2021 that requires the elimination of surface water discharges of treated domestic wastewater. The stakeholders group has recommended that additional language be added to the statute that resulted from that legislation to give utilities greater flexibility to develop plans that account for important site-specific factors unique to their water supply source and receiving water body.
